LIVE THE LITURGY - INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK

How do people know that you are a disciple of Jesus Christ? Some folks prefer to keep their faith a secret and rarely mention their belief in Jesus. Others are more vocal and readily tell people that they are Christian. For Jesus, there is another way to recognize whether one is a disciple. He tells his friends that all will know they are disciples if they have love for one another. The love to which Jesus calls us to is not just an earthly love. It's not just about doing nice things for people or even keeping positive thoughts about others. Jesus' love is divine love. Put simply, Jesus became human so that we can become divine. We are called to look at the world, people, and ourselves as God does. This requires unconditional compassion and a whole lot of mercy and forgiveness. We cannot do this alone. That is why the risen Christ remains with us, especially through the Eucharist, to help us become who he is. If done correctly, there will be no question about who has our allegiance.

Today's Focus: A Faith in the Flesh

Though the Resurrection moved Jesus to a place beyond his mortal body, we still believe that God took on our flesh in him. He continues to be enfleshed through our own lives.

Living & Praying with the Word

Loving God, you became one with us that we might become one with you and with one another. May your love for us, made uniquely visible in Jesus, teach us how to love one another as he did, so you can make all things new.

Sunday, May 19, 2019 * 5th Sunday of Easter *

From the Team Moderator's Desk (Father Rick):

The Ascension of the Lord – Will be observed on the weekend of June 01-02, 2019. Only the ecclesiastical provinces of Boston, Hartford, New York, Newark, Omaha, and Philadelphia have retained the observance on Thursday, May 30; all other US ecclesiastical provinces, including Wisconsin, have transferred this observance to the 7th Sunday of Easter.

Marian Apparitions – Last week was the feast of Our Lady of Fatima. A group of parishioners accompanying Deacon Bob are overseas visiting sites where Marian apparitions have been both alleged and judged genuine by the church. Champion, WI is home to the National Shrine of Our Lady of Good Help where, in 1859, the Blessed Virgin Mary had been alleged to have appeared, asking the visionary to take care of children in the area; this apparition, long held to be popularly, possibly authentic, was first declared such by Bishop David Ricken of Green Bay in 2010; it is the first, and at this time, only shrine associated with authenticated Marian apparitions in the USA. While spiritual events to which such places testify can contribute mightily to personal conversions, growth in grace and holiness, none of them (Fatima, Lourdes) are necessary for salvation. The deposit of faith was complete with the death of the last apostle. There are no new truths about God or our way to salvation that emerge from newly alleged apparitions or visionaries. Claims that God is acting in a special way through a particular individual or through Mary are not to be accepted at face value but with healthy, reverent skepticism. The church rigorously examines the claims and, based on evidence, reason, and theology, determines if the visionary may be worthy of belief or that there is no reason to disbelieve. In no case does the church demand or proclaim that belief in a particular apparition or in private revelation is necessary. When the church examines any claim of the supernatural, it first looks for possible natural explanations. In addition to this, the character of the person(s) involved comes into play; for every genuine visionary like St. Bernadette, there are a greater number of charlatans as well as emotionally, mentally disturbed people. The messages alleged to be communicated through the claimed apparition(s) are also examined; they must be consistent with what we all know we should do from the gospels – to pray, do penance, and live in the love of God and of each other. God takes us where and as we are. As Jesus did work miracles to call people to faith, God may choose any time God wants to call us to faith and to act on it in our times through signs and wonders. However, just because someone says God has chosen to do so now in some particular place or through some particular person does not necessarily mean God has actually chosen that person or place. For every Bernadette at Lourdes there has been a Mary Van Hoof at Necedah, WI, a Veronica Luecken at Bayside, NY, etc. What might be a clear sign of a genuine apparition or private revelation from God? That no demand is made by the alleged recipient that others must make their choices or decisions based on what has been allegedly privately revealed to the visionary; this is suggested by a saint known for his own mystical experiences, St. John of the Cross; I find his spiritual direction impressive and helpful.

Armed Forces Day/Memorial Day – It is indeed a virtuous and sometimes heroic act to serve one's nation with good conscience in whatever capacity, including military service. Patriotic commitment to honor and preserve our nation's ideals - freedom and justice - through a life devoted to public service, military or otherwise, is certainly a way that we can encourage faithful adherence to these commitments by all citizens. We thank veterans of our armed services and public servants, living and deceased, for their sacrifices and patriotic example; we thank the Veterans Administration and our VFW posts for placing flags at so many gravesites in our cemeteries to give appropriate honor as well as the fitting remembrance that is well deserved for those who made the ultimate of sacrifices; as those flags flutter in our gentle breezes, they will help us to focus on the generosity it takes to be willing to lay down one's life for a friend.
